To Log into Class Link

https://launchpad.classlink.com/home

Read your AR book or go on MyOn and read an AR book in your Lexile.

Then Follow the Directions on the bottom of the page of the.

BINGO CHOICEBOARD

Reader's Response Choice Board

		BINGO GREAT JOB!

Challenge yourself and complete all of the boxes for a Full Card Bingo!

Non-Fiction Reader's Response Choice Board

Write the gist for 3 pages of your book. Gist= What or who is the paragraph talking about? What information is given?	What new information did you learn? Write 4 facts.	Create your own photograph and write a caption to match it. Why did you choose to create this photograph? Write a fact from the text that supports your picture.	Summarize what you learned about the topic. Write a letter with an introduction, body and conclusion explaining what you learned.	Find a map, diagram, table or chart in the text. What did you learn from these non-fiction text features?
Choose 3 vocabulary words that you do not know. Use the glossary or dictionary to define them. Write a sentence in your own words using the vocabulary words.	What did you already know about the topic?	What is the most interesting fact or detail from the text? Why is it the most interesting? Explain	What evidence does the author use to support the topic? Write 3 details that support the topic.	What is the name of the author? Research the author's name and find 3 more books they wrote.
How did the author make this topic interesting to read about? Explain	List 5 vocabulary words that relate most to the topic. Why did you choose these words?	BINGO GREAT JOB!	Write 3 details from the text that you feel are the most important and support the topic. Why did you choose these 3 details? Explain	Rename one of the headings. Why did you choose this new heading? Write 3 facts from the text that supports this new heading.
Write 3 questions that reading this text brings to mind.	Why did the author write this text? Give 3 details to support your answer.	Research the topic you just learned about. Find and write 3 different facts.	What do you still want to learn about the topic? How can you learn more about the topic?	Write a book review. Would you recommend this book? Why or why not? Give supporting details.
Would you like to read more books on this topic? Why or Why not?	Think about what you learned. Turn to the person next to you and share what you enjoyed learning most about the topic.	Write 3 questions that could be answered by reading the text. Answer the questions using evidence.	What are the features of your non-fiction text? How do you know this is an informational text?	What is the main idea? What is the text mostly about? Give 3 supporting details.

After reading independently, choose 5 boxes and complete the activity written in each box. The goal is to get Bingo, so choose either 5 boxes across a row (horizontal), down a column (vertical), or diagonally.

Challenge yourself and complete all of the boxes for a Full Card Bingo!

Fiction — Reader's Response Choice Board

Write the gist for 5 paragraphs of your book. Gist= Who is in the paragraph? What is happening?	Retell the text using temporal words. (First, Next, Then, After that, Finally)	Write a new ending to the story? Why does this new ending make sense? Use details from the text to support your answer.	What is the setting? Describe the setting. How does it look and feel?	Choose 2 characters from the story to compare and contrast. How are they alike and different?
Choose 3 vocabulary words that you do not know. Use context clues in the sentence to define them.	Who are the characters? Use 3 adjectives to describe each character.	Choose 3 sentences from the text. Re-write the sentences in your own words by adding "Juicy" vocabulary.	What is the solution? How was the problem solved? Use textual evidence to support your answer.	What is the name of the author? Research the author's name and find 3 more books they wrote.
What is the character's motivation? Use textual evidence to support your answer.	Compare and contrast this text to another text you have read this year. How are they the same and different?	BINGO GREAT JOB!	What is the problem? Why is this a problem? How does the problem affect the characters?	Rename the text you are reading. Why did you choose this new title? Give 3 details from the text to support this new title.
Write 3 questions that reading this text brings to mind.	What is the lesson of the story? What is the author trying to teach you?	What does this story remind you of? Why?	What was the most important event that happened in the story? Why is it the most important?	Write a book review. Would you recommend this book? Why or why not? Give supporting details
Draw a picture using details from the story to show the most important event. Label the picture.	Turn to the person next to you and retell the story in your own words.	How did the main character's feelings change throughout the story? Use evidence from the text to support your answer.	What are the features of your fiction text? How do you know this text is fictional?	What is the main idea? What is the text mostly about? Give 3 supporting details.

After reading independently, choose 5 boxes and complete the activity written in each box. The goal is to get Bingo, so choose either 5 boxes across a row (horizontal), down a column (vertical), or diagonally.

Challenge yourself and complete all of the boxes for a Full Card Bingo!